EDUCATIONAL ACTIVITIES

Curriculum Development:

1. Housestaff Support Groups, JHBMC Internal Medicine Residency program, 1987-present. Weekly meetings to support trainees as well as promote personal awareness, personal growth and professional development among individual housestaff; another goal is to promote trust, camaraderie, mutual respect and support between and among housestaff; My role: co-founder/developer (with Penny Williamson and Phillip Zieve) in 1987; faculty facilitator 1987-88 and 1996 – present.
2. Ethical Issues in the Managed Care Setting, co-developed 1995-96; taught 1996- to housestaff, fellows, faculty.
3. Ethical Issues in Clinical Research; required course for first year scholars in the Robert Wood Johnson Clinical Scholars Program; co-developed and implemented 1995-;
4. Course on Research Ethics (C.O.R.E.) Originally developed in 1997-98 and implemented in 1998 for fellows in the Department of Medicine; as of 7/03 a required course for all faculty and fellows in the JHU School of Medicine. A full day course taught 4-5 times a year. My role: course co-developer (with Mark Hughes, Peter Terry, and David Levine) and core faculty member.
5. Teaching Skills Course of the JHU Faculty Development Program: major revision of the course with planning 2003-04 and implementation 2004-05. Course significantly abbreviated (from 9 to 3.5 months), content revised, and learner pool expanded. My role: co-directed this effort with Scott Wright.
6. Professionalism Proposal for GME Task Force on Competencies and Curricula. I was the lead author (with John Freeman) of a document about professionalism that was included in the Task Force’s report to Dean David Nichols. The Professionalism Proposal is intended to serve as a resource for the institution and its training programs regarding the professionalism competency. 2003-04.
7. Curriculum on Ethics in Clinical Practice. Being developed in 2005-06 (as part of JHU FDP CD course) with colleagues Margaret Moon, MD and Frederic Eckhauser, MD for the residents in the Departments of Surgery and Pediatrics at the Johns Hopkins Hospital; to be implemented in 2006-07.
